THE WORKINGMEN.

Mass Meetings in Union Square and at the City Hall.

The Fight to Continus - Meetings of the Wheelwrights and Blacksmiths, Sofa Makers, Blue Stone Cutters, Clothing Cubiers, Quarrymen, Stone Cutters and Furniture Manufacturers-Action of the New York and Brooklyn Aldermen.

The revolt against the ten-hour system has assumed the formidable proportions prophested by the HeralDat the inception of the movement. At the very moment, however, when skill and strength re most needed to carry it to a successful issue here is breathed about a suspicion that a wheel is roken somewhere. The governing hand felt where among the unions while the bricklayers rerywhere among the unions while the bricklayers of carpenters were in ble field seems to have lost a nerve. But it is rumored that a new and power-lassociation, more respected, if not more feared, Europe than the International, is coming to their some. Last night the carpenters in large numbers met in secret session at Masonic Hall, and on the action of the committee appointed at this cetting much will depend. The trouble arises from the uncertain and inharmonious action of the naller unions like the stone rubbers and poishers at the varnishers and poishers, which, working dependently, waste to a great extent their rength.

A meeting of wheelwrights and blacksmiths was held last evening, at Hibernia Hall, to enroll members preparatory to a strike for the eight hours There was a large attendance.

Eight-Hour League. In the committee room of the Eight-Hour League business was progressing as usual yesterday, though the hall outs de was empty, most of the though the hall outside was empty, most of the members, if not all, being absent at the demonstration in the City Hall Park.

Business in which the Internationals were mixed up occupied the session, and the reporter was politely informed that he must hurry out, as the session was to be secret.

Six new manes were added to the list.

yesterday. George Fink, the President, was in the clair.

It was reported that Schultz & Fleggerheimer, of Jersey City, had signed the contractior eight hours' labor with the workingmen.

A committee appeared with the complaint that Wolf & Son, Houston street and av nue B, expressed a willingness to grant the demand if made by their workines, but these refused to join the union or have anything to do with it.

Frederick, of 20 Orchard street, accepted the situation, and his men resume work to-day.

On motion it was resolved that the members take part in the demonstration at City Hall, and they thereupon formed in line and marched on in the direction of the Bowery.

During the afternoon of yesterday committees appointed in the morning to visit the shops where men were employed and report back, that a domand might be made for the adoption of the eighthour system, stated that only two men were found working, and those were in O'Nell's shop.

The President stated that since the beginning of the strike they had obtained an addition of 200 members, and these comprehended, with these already encolled, all, or nearily all, of the workmen in this branch of industry in the city.

About one hundred of the three or four hundred belonging to the Union are now at work under the eight-hour rule.

The President believed the strike to be a success,

The Clothing Cutters.

At the New York Assembly Rooms, corner of Second avenue and First street, a mass meeting of the clothing cutters, of whom there were about two thousand or upwards employed in this city, was held for the purpose of organizing a strike for the eight-hour labor reform. The meeting was presided over by Albert Locucustin, who introduced Coroner Young, who said the great wonder was that they had not railed before as they had railied before as they had ra now.

Mr. Hommehhausen, one of a delegation of the cabinet makers, now on strike, argued that the movement has now become so general that a defeat of the lebor reform measure is out of question.

At this stage of the preceedings the Chairman announced that those pres nt who were not members of the Union could enroll their names, and that a committee was ready for that purpose in another room, which temporarily interrupted the proceedings, inasmuch as more than half of the men present turned out to be non-Union men. ent turned out to be non-Union men.
WILLIAM J. JESSUP spoke upon the necessity of organization.

A resolution was passed by an overwhelming and enthusiastic vote declaring that a demand for the eight-hon labor reform be made from next Monday. The average wages of the clothing cutters are from $16 to $18 per week, although skilled hands earn from $20 to $22 or $24, while there are others who only earn from $14 to $15.
Lettera were received from four firms accepting the eight-hour reform.

The Quarrymen.

A meeting of the Quarrymen's Union was held tast night at No. 870 Seventh avenue, between Fifty-sixth and Fity-seventh streets, Mr. Kerawom in the chair. The meeting was called to order at eight o'clock. Mr. Kerawom made a few remarks on the necessity of union for the obtainance of the eight-hour law. Another gentleman made a motion that the initiation fee be reduced from $10 \text{ sl, so as to enable those who did not belong to the union to join. The motion was unanimously adopted. He hall being too small

No. 2, then made a motion that the united quarrymen strik for eight hours on Monday, June 3, which was carried, amid the wildest cheers. A committee or eight was then appointed by the meeting to wait upon the different contractors and

The Bluestone Cutters and Flaggers. A meeting of the bluestone cutters and flaggers was held last night at Everett Hall, 232 West Thirtieth street, for the purpose of taking action on the cight hour law. Mr. Pat Kerwan, the president, the cight hour law. Mr. Pat Kerwan, the president, made a speech on opening the meeting. He was followed by others, who painted the system in its bright st colors. Throughout the evening much opposition was manifested towards the proposed measure, and when the motion was made to have eight hours a day's work, the opposition showed quite a front; but the yeas were in the majority, and the thing was carried. It was then moved that it be made unanimous, but it was not done. The strike is to begin on Monday morning, June 3.

Furniture Manufacturers and Dealers. The furniture manufacturers and dealers met last evening at 49 Elizabeth street, Mr. Brown, of the firm of Brown & Bliss, presiding, and Mr. Palmer, of the firm of Palmer, Embury & Co., acting as sectives of leading firms the strike in this branch of industry is not likely to end immediately. The bosses seem really not to care so much about an advance in the wages of the men as about the de-manded reduction of the hours of labor from ten to eight. They seem to be a unit onthis point; but at the same time many conceasions have been made in some of the mills, as this is a busy season and contracts must be fulfilled. To the upholasterers especially, owing to the difficulty of procuring this class of mechanics, some of the larger houses have given the advance of twenty per cent on former wages. It was understand from the remarks made last evening that the bosses are disposed to allow

A mass meeting of the workingmen favorable to the eight-hour movement was held yesterday in one for the German-speaking orators and the other for the English. They were built by the "striking" skill not usually shown on public occasions of this character. Previous to the commencement of the speaking a small four-page tract was distributed among the crowd, which at no time exceeded more than three hundred. The tract, after setting forth various grievances under which the workingmen were laboring, consequent on the tyranny of capital, called upon the working men to "combine themselves with each other to accomplish the normal eight hour working day, only for ourselves, but also for our descendants."

The tract also contained the following somewhat

Wealth and plenty, whether gotton by fairness or by robbery, are the fruit of force combined, poverty and crime the inevitable entailment of social disintegration. Society is a mechanical instrumentality, made up of groups of integers, and while caring for itself is unable to obtain happiness, the object of life, without obeying a discipline of mutual reciprocity of the forces of the integers of which it is composed.

The meeting was called to order by Mr. Ennis, of the Plastropes who nominated Mr. James Coppoliv of the Painters', as the President of the meeting. Mr. ConnoLly, who was received with applause, said that he felt greatly honored by the selection of himself as President of a meeting in favor of the Eight Hour law, and called in the interest of the strike on behalf of their hearths and liberties. The workingmen had been ground down by a ten hour workingmen of New York. It was intended to strike on behalf of their hearths and liberties. The workingmen had been ground down by a ten hour law for years, but now they meant to strike off the shackles of slavery and fight, if needful, for their own rights, The high officials of this city had refused to endorse it, and the national government also until the last week, when the government saw that the workingmen were determined that those who opposed it should not long retain their position. In none of the departments of the city government was the law carried out. An endeavor had been made by the workingmen to change the policy of working in the State Prison, but it would not be listened to, because if it were changed the politicians would not be able to put money in their pockets.

Mr. Francis Pransall. was the next speaker. He said that all that the workingmen desired was that they should have a little of the fruit of their labor. They were not revolutionary in their ideas; all that they were as nothing. The workingmen had no desire to pull down; their desire was to build up.

Mr. E. P. McDermott, Secretary of the Plasterers' Union, then read the following preamble and resolutions, which were adopted by the meeting:—

Whereas the progress in science and art during the last century and the invention of numerous labor-saving machines have wronght a revolution in industry, by means whereof a large part of the work formerly performed by workmen is now performed by machinery, and the diminution of the dwarf of the desired continuing in proportion as science and art are progressing; and whereas an adherence to present hours of labor would result in ruin of industrial pursuits and starvation of the working classes, inasmen has only the amount of products required for consumption is produced; by the aid of machinery and labor-saving contrivances, the production of this amount can be accomplished at the present scale of working hours by a fraction of the weaks, the light-Hour statute so called, by their reders the re

Mr. There, of the Typographical Union, then was introduced and addressed the crowd with his usual vigor, and senounced all political interference with the present movement.

Mr. Exils, of the Plasterers; Mr. Daly, President of the Workingmen's Union, and Mr. Theodore Backs, of the Internationalists, afterwards addressed the meeting, which adjourned shortly after for rolelock.

J. W. ARSHALL, First Assistant Postmaster General. A large platform for the speakers and Committee of Arrangements was erected on Union square, facing Broadwey, and about cight o'clock a crowd commenced to gather in its vicinity. The weather was not very propitious for a mass meeting, but it cleared up towards evening and enabled several hundres to be present. It appears that the original wages of the men employed under the Croton bepartment was $2.50 per day; but on the 15th January Mr. Van Grden placed the Croton men on the same hasts as those employed by the Park Commissioners, which reduced their daily slipend to $2 per day. Mr. Jam s O'neilly presided, and shortly after eight P. M., as soon as the music would give him a chance, rose and explained the object of the meeting. He said the hanorers were surefring from the reduction and they wished the public to understand they had just enuse to compain. He said the wages of Corporation laborers averaged about $10 per week all through the year. Their families averaged about $40 per week for rent and $1 per week or fares, they had left $5 per week to feed five people. He hoped that the workingmen would get their rights and that the public would ald shem in getting the necessaries of life. The speakers also complained that the local politicians were in the habit of offering en saic lickets to put men on to work, whereas if the Commissioners were only to give these tickets to the officers of the Workingmen's linion deserving men would get work. Mr. E. T. Shields then made a few remarks, after which Mr. Daniel R. Lyddy came forward, and in a few eloquent remarks showed the treachery of some of the supposed friends of the workingmen would had been in the meeting adjourned. The crowd were very orderly, and dispersed quietly in the derection of their homes. A large matform for the speakers and Committee of Arrangements was erected on Union square, facing

The Housesmiths.

The housesmiths, to the number of 1,500, gathered in Milliman's Hall, last evening, corner of Twenty sixth street and Seventh avenue. Mr. Patrick Sharkey was appointed chairman and Mr. Partick Sharkey was appointed chairman and Mr. John Dalton secretary of the meeting. It was at once ennounced by the presiding officer that it was the intention for the trade to join with their brother mechanics in the strike for eight hours. The tumost enthusiasm prevailed, and cheer after cheer was given for the success of the movement.

Messrs. John Ennis, D. J. Griffin, Coroner Young and Mr. Thomas P. Masterson then addressed the assemblage, calling upon the housesmiths to Mesars. John Enuis, D. J. Grinin, Coroner Young and Mr. Thomas P. Masterson then addressed the assemblage, calling upon the housesmiths to stand shoulder to shoulder with their fellow tradesmen in this great movement, but advising prudence in all their actions. A motion was made to notify all employers that on and after June 3 the trade would demand the same wages as at present for eight hours work. It was carried unanimously.

Three committees were appointed to wait on the bosses and notify them of the action of the meeting. There are an unit twenty-five firms in the city, employing some dipors, the principal of which are mechanics and dipors, the principal of which are the Architectural tron Works, in Fourteenth street, the Ætna iron Wor. Assistant Adderman O'CONNOS offered the Indowing preamble and resolution:—

Whereas it appears by the daily press that the Commissioners of Public Parks will, at their next mee Nug, discuss a series of resolutions proposing the adoption of the cight-hour system by the department; therefore, Rasolved, That a special committee of three be appointed from this Board to respectfully but earnestly focumend to the said Commissioners the adoption of the resolutions aforesaid.

Mr. O'CONNOR urged the adoption of both. A good deal of discussion was had thereon, dur ing which Mr. Geis gave it as his opinion that Mr. ing which Mr. Geis gave it as his opinion that Mr. O'Connor introduced the preamble and resolution for the purpose of creating a little excitement and ingratiating himself into public favor. Mr. Galvin said that he was informed by the President of the Department of Public Parks that only eight hours work a day is required of the employes. Mr. Schwartz substantiated Mr. Galvin's statement. It was therefore unnecessary to pass the resolution, which, by way of a salve for all the hard things said, was referred to the Committee on Public Works.

The Brooklyn Common Council met yesterday afternoon, President Jacob I. Bergen in the chair. The all-absorbing question of the day—that of labor and its demands on time—was introduced by the reading of a petition from the Kings County Workingmen's Assembly, which claims to represent the interests and sentiment of 10,000 mechanics. The document is as follows:—
